

Figure 1. Schematic representation of the experimental design. The subjects were divided into two groups: the control group (CG) and the experimental group (EG). The CG was divided into two subgroups: the control group (CG) and the control group (CG). The EG was divided into two subgroups: the experimental group (EG) and the experimental group (EG). The subjects were divided into two groups: the control group (CG) and the experimental group (EG). The CG was divided into two subgroups: the control group (CG) and the control group (CG). The EG was divided into two subgroups: the experimental group (EG) and the experimental group (EG).

(a) At the Start of the Operation of the Apparatus

(b) Manufacturing a Thin Film

(c) Replacement of Substrate / Reduction of the Internal Pressure in the Reactor Again

FIG. 2

FIG. 3

FIG. 4

